June 23, 2012

Professional Membership Preparation and Supervision Day

Abbotsford Convent Melbourne Dorm 1, Rosina building, 1 St Helier Street, Abbotsford, Melbourne.

The DTAA is undertaking a new strategic initiative to encourage eligible members to apply for Professional Membership. Increasing the number of Professional Members benefits both the profession and the association and provides successful candidates with increased professional standing. It also responds to new demands from PACFA for a minimum of 20 Professional Members for each Member Association.

9.30- 1 30pm: Group supervision

The morning session, open to all members, will involve experiential activities to encourage reflective practice and discussion led by Fran Ostrobrski (IDTIA Faculty). Cost: a modest fee, $70 for members and $60 concession.

Networking lunch break: Participants are invited to bring lunch to share

2-4 pm: Professional Membership mentoring

The afternoon session is free and for prospective Professional Members. DTAA's Professional Membership Committee will provide information and respond to questions. Participants are encouraged to bring their application documents with them so that they can be assisted with areas of concern. Prospective Professional Members will be invited to participate in an ongoing series of peer mentoring sessions over the next few months to encourage applications to be submitted this year.

Supervision hours during the day can be counted towards the hours needed for Professional Membership, PACFA registration/ renewal, or as professional development

Amber Gray back in Melbourne

Abbotsford Convent Melbourne Dorm 1, Rosina building, 1 St Helier Street, Abbotsford.

Lifestreams: Continuum as Healing Movement

Emilie Conrad, creator of Continuum Movement, teaches that all fluids are basically one element, resonating with all other fluids. They function as a kind of umbilical cord supplying us with the pulsing undulations of life. Amber Gray, authorized Continuum Movement Teacher and award winning dance movement therapist, has worked for many years with people who have survived violation, human rights abuses, and terror, using Continuum movement as a primary restorative practice in her work, and for resilience after injury, illness and chronic stress. Her teaching often combines Continuum with dance movement therapy, somatic psychology, current trauma and neuropsychological research, movement therapy, life impressions bodywork, ritual, and creative arts. The workshop will include opportunities to address specific participant or client issues as defined by the group and focus on how Continuum aids us to restore fluidity and health to our tissue, our movement, and overall well-being, after specific injuries, chronic stress, and/or exposure to life challenging or traumatic events. Reference will be made to how Continuum has been used with survivors of large-scale disasters, interpersonal violence and physical injury to guide our own fluid inquiries.

Centre Post Framework Training with Amber Gray planned for 2013

Body as Voice: Restorative Movement Psychotherapy Trauma and Resiliency Training Series

Exposure to traumatic events literally and metaphorically “freezes” our bodies, minds and spirits in a “lock-down” of past memories. Current neuro-psychiatric research has shown that when someone is traumatized, a majority of traumatic memory is implicit—or sensory-motoric. Many of the researchers endorse the use of non-verbal therapies for survivors to fully integrate the past with the present and restore well-being and balance.

This training series will prepare clinicians, dance movement therapists, art therapists, and somatic therapists to work with survivors of trauma (in particular, trauma secondary to war, torture, interpersonal abuse, complex trauma, human rights violations, intergenerational and historic trauma, complex humanitarian emergencies and natural disaster) using a variety of very practical, body and arts-based practices and methods.

PACFA 2012 Biennial Conference

What Works? An Exploration of Effectiveness in Counselling and Psychotherapy. 9am-4pm

Treacy Centre, 126 The Avenue, Parkville

Keynote Speakers: Professor Robert King School Psychotherapy and Counselling, Queensland University of Technology; A Roy Bowden N. Zealand Representative, World Council Psychotherapy.

There is a growing emphasis on evidence based practice in counselling and psychotherapy. It is increasingly important for the counselling and psychotherapy profession to understand and to be able to articulate which therapy modalities and interventions are effective for clients. We can then deliver more effective therapy to our clients and raise the profile of our profession, and the services we provide, with government and in the community.

Working with the connective tissue will support our bodies re-establishing structural alignment and helps bring us back into balance - physiologically and emotionally. Our aim is to feel more connected in relationship with others, create more opportunities for choice and ultimately more flexibility in life. This workshop is all about feeling good, letting your body do the talking, moving in ways that support opening, stretching and celebrating full embodiment. No prior experience necessary.
